

ROSEMARY LAWRENCE

Dip BFD.Cert.Clin Hom. Cert.Ed

Homotoxicologist

TURNING POINT CLINICS

North Devon Practice

1 Oakland Place

South Street

South Molton

EX36 4AD

Tel No:

01769 574833

The Bath Practice

26 Monmouth St

Bath

BA1 2AP

Tel No:

01225 427835/448993

Allergies?

IBS?

Tired?

Run down?

Aching?

Chronic Fatigue?

Insomnia?

HOMOTOXICOLOGY

For the Whole Family

at

TURNING POINT CLINICS

Can cure the illnesses you never knew you had!

"We may not be able to add more years to your life,
but we may add more life to your years!"

ROSEMARY LAWRENCE

Dip BFD.Cert.Clin Hom. Cert.Ed

Homotoxicologist

TURNING POINT CLINICS

North Devon Practice

1 Oakland Place

South Street

South Molton

EX36 4AD

Tel No:

01769 574833

The Bath Practice

26 Monmouth St

Bath

BA1 2AP

Tel No:

01225 427835/448993

Allergies?

IBS?

Tired?

Run down?

Aching?

Chronic Fatigue?

Insomnia?

HOMOTOXICOLOGY

For the Whole Family

at

TURNING POINT CLINICS

Can cure the illnesses you never knew you had!

"We may not be able to add more years to your life,
but we may add more life to your years!"

Homotoxicology is a modern form of homoeopathy, that stands between classical homoeopathy and modern medicine. 250 years ago, Dr Hahnemann, a German physician, discovered that successively diluting and shaking substances enhanced the potency of the substances with fewer side effects. Thus arsenic in its dilute and potentised form can be used to treat abdominal cramps and diarrhoea with none of the adverse effects expected with pure arsenic.

A classical homoeopath takes a detailed history and, based on the findings, prescribes a remedy with a matching symptom pattern. However, the pattern of disease has altered radically since Hahnemann's time. One hundred years ago, 80% of diseases were acute infections such as smallpox and tuberculosis. Now, the situation is, that 80% of diseases are chronic, such as ME and Parkinson's Disease, which are virtually untreatable conventionally. This makes the classical homoeopath approach more difficult as it is more complicated to see the patient's true constitutional type.

The change in the pattern of disease is thought to be partly as a result of the modern toxic load that we carry, from all the chemicals in the environment - chlorine in tap water, mercury in fillings, fluoride in toothpaste, and all the unnatural chemicals in cleaning products. In addition, inherited factors and exposure to diseases all contribute to ill health.

In the 1950's, a German physician, Dr Reckeweg, proposed a six phase table of disease in which the body makes progressively more radical attempts to rid itself of illness until it can cope no longer. The first three phases, from excretion of toxins to cyst formation are readily reversible. However, once the cells of the body are affected in the final three phases, the problem becomes pathological and much harder to treat. Reckeweg devised a system of treating the patient working from the six phase table, to monitor progress. He named the system: Homotoxicology (homo = human; toxicology = removing human toxins).

A Homotoxicologist takes a case history, and then, testing the body tissues and organs using an electro acupuncture machine, identifies what kind of toxins and infections in the body are creating the presenting symptoms. Remedies can be prescribed accordingly. These consist of a mixture of nosodes (homoeopathic preparations of viruses, bacterial infections or parasites), and complex homoeopathic preparations formulated to cleanse, detoxify and stimulate healing. Most of the remedies come from Heel pharmaceuticals, the largest manufacturer of homoeopathic remedies in the world. (Heel comes from the Latin 'herba est ex luce' which means 'Plant life derives from the light')

Homotoxicology is widely practised in European countries where it is a cheaper and holistic alternative to the conventional, pharmaceutically centred medicine of the English-speaking world. The practice is supported by an increasing number of scientific studies into the efficacy of the approach.

Rosemary Lawrence, Homotoxicologist, has been practising Homotoxicology for nearly ten years. She has successfully treated patients (adults and children) with Parkinson's Disease, irritable bowel syndrome, shingles, Chronic Fatigue syndrome, eczema, asthma, menopausal symptoms, and many others. Most patients require three visits or less. However, chronic illnesses may take longer. The machine she uses can also test for allergies and sensitivities, although elimination of the toxins in the system generally sorts out the allergy.

Homotoxicology is a modern form of homoeopathy, that stands between classical homoeopathy and modern medicine. 250 years ago, Dr Hahnemann, a German physician, discovered that successively diluting and shaking substances enhanced the potency of the substances with fewer side effects. Thus arsenic in its dilute and potentised form can be used to treat abdominal cramps and diarrhoea with none of the adverse effects expected with pure arsenic.

A classical homoeopath takes a detailed history and, based on the findings, prescribes a remedy with a matching symptom pattern. However, the pattern of disease has altered radically since Hahnemann's time. One hundred years ago, 80% of diseases were acute infections such as smallpox and tuberculosis. Now, the situation is, that 80% of diseases are chronic, such as ME and Parkinson's Disease, which are virtually untreatable conventionally. This makes the classical homoeopath approach more difficult as it is more complicated to see the patient's true constitutional type.

The change in the pattern of disease is thought to be partly as a result of the modern toxic load that we carry, from all the chemicals in the environment - chlorine in tap water, mercury in fillings, fluoride in toothpaste, and all the unnatural chemicals in cleaning products. In addition, inherited factors and exposure to diseases all contribute to ill health.

In the 1950's, a German physician, Dr Reckeweg, proposed a six phase table of disease in which the body makes progressively more radical attempts to rid itself of illness until it can cope no longer. The first three phases, from excretion of toxins to cyst formation are readily reversible. However, once the cells of the body are affected in the final three phases, the problem becomes pathological and much harder to treat. Reckeweg devised a system of treating the patient working from the six phase table, to monitor progress. He named the system: Homotoxicology (homo = human; toxicology = removing human toxins).

A Homotoxicologist takes a case history, and then, testing the body tissues and organs using an electro acupuncture machine, identifies what kind of toxins and infections in the body are creating the presenting symptoms. Remedies can be prescribed accordingly. These consist of a mixture of nosodes (homoeopathic preparations of viruses, bacterial infections or parasites), and complex homoeopathic preparations formulated to cleanse, detoxify and stimulate healing. Most of the remedies come from Heel pharmaceuticals, the largest manufacturer of homoeopathic remedies in the world. (Heel comes from the Latin 'herba est ex luce' which means 'Plant life derives from the light')

Homotoxicology is widely practised in European countries where it is a cheaper and holistic alternative to the conventional, pharmaceutically centred medicine of the English-speaking world. The practice is supported by an increasing number of scientific studies into the efficacy of the approach.

Rosemary Lawrence, Homotoxicologist, has been practising Homotoxicology for nearly ten years. She has successfully treated patients (adults and children) with Parkinson's Disease, irritable bowel syndrome, shingles, Chronic Fatigue syndrome, eczema, asthma, menopausal symptoms, and many others. Most patients require three visits or less. However, chronic illnesses may take longer. The machine she uses can also test for allergies and sensitivities, although elimination of the toxins in the system generally sorts out the allergy.

